We have 2 Sony DXC-30s standing by. Our video production team thinks of ourselves as storytellers who use digital film to express our ideas. Every project, every production is really a story that needs to be told. When we approach a new project we come at it from the perspective of relating a story. We look to find the truth in every story and produce it in such a way that the audience grasps that truth through the combination of sight and sound. With collaboration and guidance from you, we've produced documentary, commercial, music video, promotional and educational Stories that have invited people to laugh, feel like a part of the team, look a little closer and see themselves.

We have 2 Sony DXC-30s standing by. Our video production team thinks of ourselves as storytellers who use digital film to express our ideas. Every project, every production is really a story that needs to be told. When we approach a new project we come at it from the perspective of relating a story. We look to find the truth in every story and produce it in such a way that the audience grasps that truth through the combination of sight and sound. With collaboration and guidance from you, we've produced documentary, commercial, music video, promotional and educational Stories that have invited people to laugh, feel like a part of the team, look a little closer and see themselves.

We have 2 Sony DXC-30s standing by. Our video production team thinks of ourselves as storytellers who use digital film to express our ideas. Every project, every production is really a story that needs to be told. When we approach a new project we come at it from the perspective of relating a story. We look to find the truth in every story and produce it in such a way that the audience grasps that truth through the combination of sight and sound. With collaboration and guidance from you, we've produced documentary, commercial, music video, promotional and educational Stories that have invited people to laugh, feel like a part of the team, look a little closer and see themselves.

Produce & syndicate local/national TV news segments. Emphasis on healthcare. We are entering our 14th year of production and syndication of 'The Corner Drugstore'. Hosted by pharmacist Max Leber, The Corner Drugstore educates consumers about over-the-counter and prescription drugs. Currently airs in 50 markets including supercable WGN out of Chicago. We also produce and syndicate a series of 60-second pet care vignettes entitled 'Pet Talk'. These features are hosted by veterinarian Dr. Ron Kirkpatrick. Dr. Ron tells pet owners how to responsibly take care of your companion animal i.e. dog, cat, fish, bird etc. I also freelance as a producer/writer for NBC news/HGTV/Discovery Channel and others. My partner is my cameraman who shoots both film and video.
